Foreword

The National Computer Board (NCB) has been vested with the responsibility to spearhead the development of an information society in Mauritius while supporting e-Government initiatives to make of Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) the fifth pillar of the economy.

It is in this context that the NCB has taken the initiative this year to publish the very first Directory of ICT Companies in Mauritius which comes to fill in a missing link which would but facilitate interaction amongst companies operating in the local ICT industry while increasing visibility of these enterprises on the international scene.

The Directory, which provides with contact details a complete list of companies active to-date in the local ICT sector, will henceforth be published every year with updates so as to reflect the true picture of the wide array of ICT-related activities being conducted in the country.

The compilation of this communication tool will not only ensure a constant monitoring of development in the ICT sector but will also be a most important promotion instrument at ICT events abroad, thus enabling easy contact between Mauritian enterprises and international investors, outsourcers and joint venture partners.

We trust the presence on this list of names of key high profile international players like Infosys, Microsoft, Accenture, the Hinduja Group, the TNT Group, IBM and Oracle will vouch for the reputation of the country as a safe and investment-friendly destination for business.

There are currently more than 300 companies operating in the ICT sector, involved in a wide range of activities including software development, call centre, business process outsourcing (BPO), IT-enabled services (ITES), training, hardware assembly and sales, networking and other support services.

The emergent ICT industry, which took off with the liberalisation of the telecommunications sector only four years ago, boasts of good performance.

There is a huge potential for Mauritius to further consolidate its ICT sector by fostering exports of ICT products and services particularly with the significant 45% cut in the cost of international bandwidth over the last two years.

Mauritius is well connected to the rest of the world via satellite and through the South Africa Far East (SAFE) submarine cable providing high bandwidth international connectivity. Connection to the SAFE cable network has enabled the significant cut in tariffs on international telecommunications services including International Private Leased Circuit (IPLC) and IP connectivity to the Global Internet (IP-IPLC & IP-VPN).

A successful outcome of Government efforts to be party to the Eastern Africa Submarine Cable System (EaSSY) currently under construction is expected to further bring down the cost of international connectivity and enhance business potentials.

The availability of the Directory in companies' boardrooms in Mauritius and abroad will, we hope, enable fruitful contacts amongst players in the ICT industry and open the door to new investment opportunities and tie ups with Mauritian entrepreneurs.

The National Computer Board at a glance

The NCB was established in 1988 and is a para-statal body which operates under the aegis of the Ministry of Information Technology and Telecommunications. As the apex organisation responsible for fostering the growth and promotion of ICT and ICT-related activities in Mauritius, the role of the NCB is to e-power businesses, people and the public sector, in line with national goals.

The NCB is a key enabler in transforming Mauritius into a regional ICT hub and, amongst others, advises Government on the elaboration of national policies for the development of the local ICT sector.

E-powering businesses

The NCB facilitates the development of the Mauritian ICT industry through various initiatives, including:

- the promotion of entrepreneurship in ICT through its Incubator Centre
- the development of ICT market expansion
- the compilation of indicators and studies to assess the penetration and usage of ICT across the different economic sectors and households
- participation in international fairs to promote the Mauritian ICT industry abroad

E-powering people

With the aim to transform Mauritius into an Information Society, the NCB e-powers people by:

- creating ICT awareness
- diffusing ICT culture across the island
- spreading ICT literacy among the public
- creating awareness on the benefits of ICT for improving quality of life
- promoting ICT for social development

E-powering the public sector

The NCB e-powers the public sector by participating in e-Government initiatives, by:

- building and managing the Government Online Centre, which is the main infrastructure enabling e-Government
- managing the Government Web Portal, through which Government services are provided online
- providing free hosting facilities and technical assistance for the development of websites and portals of Ministries and Government Departments

About this Directory

In line with its objective to e-power businesses, the NCB has launched a number of ICT Market Expansion initiatives aimed at assisting Mauritian ICT companies with developing their export markets.

In this context, the NCB has compiled this Directory of ICT companies in Mauritius, with a view to market Mauritian ICT companies, provide information on ICT products and services that are offered by Mauritian companies and facilitate business relationships.

The complete list of companies in this Directory is found on pages 08 to 17, including details of export and non-export oriented companies and their respective fields of activities.

The detailed profile of each company is displayed on pages 18 to 165.

Snapshot of the Mauritian ICT Industry

There are currently about 300 companies operating in the ICT sector in Mauritius, involved in a wide range of activities including software development, call centre, BPO, web-enabled activities, training, hardware assembly and sales, networking and other support services. These include around 110 companies involved in ITES-BPO activities and mainly servicing export markets including the USA, France, the UK, Belgium and other European countries.

ITES-BPO is a very strong segment of the local ICT industry. Over the recent years, this sector has experienced an exponential growth. As at January 2006, 4,332 people were employed in this sector, with call centres being the highest generator of employment with 2,371 people .

Most of the major service providers (IBM, Microsoft, SAP, ORACLE, HP, amongst others) have a presence in Mauritius. IBM, Microsoft and HP also have their regional office on the island. Mauritius has successfully attracted key international players, such as Infosys, the Hinduja Group, Accenture, the TNT Group, Teleforma and Bowman International, to set up development centres, conduct BPO activities and operate disaster recovery centres.

There are two main ICT industry associations in Mauritius, namely, the Mauritius Information Technology Industry Association (MITIA) and ACT. MITIA is an association of major ICT companies, and ACT is an umbrella alliance regrouping the associations of ISPs, of telecommunications service providers and of call centres.

Company Profile

Innovative and Creative Lines Ltd was founded in 2002 and is situated at 5 Octave Sandapa Street, Port Louis, Mauritius: that address was chosen from many other alternatives because of its strategic position in Port-Louis, Mauritius – ease of access and free parking areas for our customers and visitors.

Our core activities are IT-related specializing in development of custom business-supporting software, hosting of web-sites, consultancy, contracting and outsourcing of IT services, computer networking solutions and IT training, in collaboration with a number of partners.

Since 2002, ICL has been providing world-class solutions for sustaining administrative and productive frameworks to a number of companies, mainly small and medium enterprises. The strengths of ICL are attributed to best-staffing profiles, quality services delivery, by allowing participation of customers in our work processes, continual follow-up and collection of feedback from our customers.

After 2 years of hard work and dedication ICL is now a reference in IT services delivery and our capabilities have expanded from providing only Service Level Agreements in 2002 to all the IT services we now provide. ICL enjoys constant and increased success resulting from continual research and development.

A final word about ICL: It is a place where you meet happy people, always eager to do their work, ready to serve.

Company Profile

The major shareholders of Superdist Ltd are Unidist and ENL Group. Unidist Group is an international group constituted of several companies which are very active in mass distribution of technological products in the Middle East and African market. Since its foundation in 1994, the group has been constantly increasing its position geographically [local and regional expansion] as well as significant growth in terms of turnover and personnel.

ENL Group is a major stakeholder in the Mauritian economy and has been established since 1944. The main activities of the group are concentrated in the field of agriculture, trade and commerce.

The Company:

Our core business is to distribute only to ICT resellers and to the ICT professional. The company also provides after sales services and support to its customers and ensures worldwide warranty for every product sold. Superdist Ltd is committed to offer professional service and support in a highly competitive market. Government policy to make Mauritius a cyber-island is a challenge and represents an opportunity for the company to position itself as the leader in the ICT market.

Company Profile

Team SYNthesis offers the Project Management Office and Corporate Planning Office strategic enabling tool for the senior management of organizations to manage their daily critical activities. Team SYNthesis also forms the backbone in which a best-practice Project Management training programme can be formulated. Team SYNthesis is a business process management tool that has been successfully implemented in our region for companies with employees ranging from 5 to 5,000. The critical Team SYNthesis value proposition that we believe will be useful to vision-centric companies in forward looking organizations and other big MNCs is in the areas of enforcing compliance and governance, two very challenging areas that require constant top management attention in order to foster continuous growth and success. Any practical automation in these two areas saves top management time and more importantly, enables them to focus on their core competencies which we believe are business growth strategies and client engagement.
